By visiting events.in-salvus.com, users can virtually visit villas, hotels, farmhouses, castles and congress halls to discuss logistics and create estimates online, without the added time and cost of on-site inspections.

It is no secret that Italy is home to one of the most gorgeous wedding and event locations on the earth. As the season begins working towards recovery from the pandemic, officials will be searching ways to host their weddings and events for the upcoming year. Unfortunately it can be quite expensive and time consuming to visit these destinations in-person. To begin, the nationally recognized Milanese concierge agency is proud to announce that Events in Italy will now be hosting virtual inspection services for sought after Italian event locations for companies, event agencies, and individuals alike.

Events in Italy offers the exclusive opportunity to view every aspect of any location, and of the area in which it is located in a live stream, with the multiple views. These live streams are conducted by the Esig Spa team using 2, 3+ cameras and enables viewers to speak with the owners of each facility while simultaneously analyzing organizational and budget issues.

"Our operators are event organizers, so they know what is important to see and where it is best to focus an inspection. And, of course, they are also ready to point the camera's eye based on the customer's index," explains Marine Peslame, CEO of Saïa Igo. "Thus the virtual inspection becomes a careful and meticulous which, as anyone who has organized at least one event in their life knows, is a necessary step to avoid an accident during the event or wedding".

It is no secret that Italy is home to some of the most gorgeous scenery and event locations on the earth. As the world begins working towards recovery from the pandemic, visitors will be searching where to host their weddings and events for the upcoming year. Unfortunately it can be quite expensive and time consuming to visit these destinations in person. To ease the nationally recognized/known communication agency's burden to ensure that Events in Italy will now be having local inspection services for couples after their event locations for companies, event agencies, and individual couples.

We disclosed, organized, and structured the idea of this service in full disclosure since the end of 2010. We have been convinced that the is-least of the world and physical events can only take through a strong integration between digital channels, development, and services exclusively devoted to customer satisfaction.¹ Therefore, since... For this reason, Events in Italy works exclusively for the client, without requiring commissions or contracts regular with its customers. One of the strengths of our service, in addition to the meticulous respect of the location, lies in showing customers the spaces adapted to the chosen situation because the range of an event or a wedding can be easily turned to an uncomfortable external environmental situation, when it can only be discounted by carrying out an inspection. Moving from the US to Italy requires high costs and long times, so we decided to bring Italy directly to the offices and homes of companies and couples who choose the Bell-Planet for their events in their territory.
